We arrived on Monday, September 11, 1967 for orientation. The memories of that day are vivid for those of us who have completed all six years. We were as new as the Headmaster, as we are the first graduating class to have studied entirely under his tenure.

There were 48 of us, all from different backgrounds. The task of adjustment varied among us, as a few of the whole had been nurtured in private schools. We adjusted easily and we studied. The work had never been so hard. The learning at first consisted primarily of the rudiments of the vocation. As we became more adept, we settled into the routine of Kingswood. We enjoyed a strong athletic program as the school quickly became our home. Many of us entered that unique phenomenon called the study hall for the first time. We emulated our elders as the myriad of New York Times, (having been all but read) the mass scuffings, stampings, and coincidental coughing fits intrigued us from the start. By February, we became masters at the art of study hall shenanigans. The adjustment period was soon over as in June, we had one down, five to go.

Second form year was rather nondescript, though, as in any time, individual gains were constantly being achieved. Our ranks were swelling as we gained ten members from the previous year. The routine lacked its spark of the year before and we wearily realized that we were a long way from the top.

Soon, we found that Kingswood had gained a sister during the summer of 1969. "We now attend Kingswood-Oxford School Inc." was what we were told by the Headmaster upon our return in September. We realized that the school was in the process of change. 1969 was a year of change, though most of the class remained intact, isolated from the growing student unrest in the country. The merger was a challenge for the class of 1973. In the lower school, the majority of us had been content with single sex education. In the third form, we eagerly awaited the prospects of co-education as, simultaneously, the two schools merged. Then, due to cooperation and planning on the part of faculty and students alike, we were able to enjoy the full fruits of co-education by our junior year.

The merger, the impending political situation, and the infinite rates of personal development proceeded to polarize the class by the middle of the fourth form year. Cliques were started, as people formed opinions and reacted accordingly. Fourth form was a difficult year, as friends became casual acquaintances and new bonds were tied. As people eagerly explored their own interests and began to express their own goals and views, great diversity was inevitable.

One item was characteristic of form four, mud and diesel fumes. The second house had gone during the summer. Those observing the demise said it gave a good fight. Back hoes, bull dozers, and power shovels paved the way for the great hope of Kingswood-Oxford, the Robert's Science-Arts Center. The center offered potential for the many diverse interests budding within the class. It offered relief from the cramped quarters, and inconvenient scheduling that had plagued the school.

By fifth form, a summer had passed and consequently our interests had had time to further diversify. The trials and tribulations of P.S.A.T.'s and Achievement Tests shook us from the rather self-centered personal development stage of the fourth form. By this time, the building was closed in, it seemed as if it could never be completed by our senior year. However, we didn't have time to sidewalk supervise as we began to take over the school activities. Was the true motive for involvement honest interest, or was the basic aim to fill up the college transcript? No one really knew. Fifth form was a year of analyzation. It required a high degree of efficient performance as outside forces began evaluating achievement. When our friends one year older graduated, we were seniors.

Instinctively for the first few days of school, we took the sidewalk around the senior green. The aura of school soon descended. Senior year was fascinating. Soon, we had done all we could about college. We reverted back to the stage of personal enjoyment; but, because of our maturity, with greater productivity. We knew what we wanted. The Robert's Center was at our beck and call. Long sought facilities blossomed with their creative power. Drama, art, science, and independent study flourished during our final year.

The class of 1973 had changed, but so had Kingswood. We, told never to tread on the Senior Green, saw the Green Raid disappear as an institution. Furthermore, we have seen the hard pines of Seaverns Hall go to the Old Boys as nostalgic window seats. Kingswood-Oxford has developed from a school of mass rah-rah spirit into a center fulfillment as shown by the increased amount of polarization in each succeeding class. Only those who miss the security of the whole regret the change. Student pride has become a subtle thanks for the chance of six years of individual maturing.

Our six years are over. The programs which we had strived to lead are now being administered by some previous subordinate. Sports are over, captains have been chosen for next year. It is often a painful exposure, an inevitable diversification within 71 different people. Above all, Kingswood-Oxford represents a development of personal motivation. We leave the nest of Kingswood-Oxford with talent, but, above all, with the self-confidence necessary to pursue our separate courses alone.

Dedication

The class of 1973 would like to express their special appreciation to Robert Googins and James Goodwin. Their dedication, friendliness, patience and sense of humor has distinguished them not only as outstanding teachers and advisors; but as close friends to countless students.

Kevin Deck, Rich Pera, Paul Manchester, Cecil Adams, Peter Falce and Myron Yousman in "Adding Machine"

The K.O.D.S. opened their brand new theater with the production of "The Adding Machine". A tragicomedy from the 1930's, the play featured the veteran actresses Linda Pease and Liza Finley, but the starring role was played by senior Rich Lipman, a newcomer to the Kingswood stage. Rich, in a memorable performance as the bumbling Mr. Zero, was a surprise hit, and along with fellow senior Myron Yousman helped make the virgin performance in the Roberts Center a dynamic one.

The winter play, as a change of pace, was Irma LaDouce, and starred senior Pam Strayer in the title role. The cast was filled out by seniors Myron Yousman, Wilbur W. Wood, Chris Bray and Bob Kaplan. The coordinator and director of both productions was Frank Best, whose keen insight into theater art made both productions a memorable experience for both cast and audience.

The 1972 Varsity football squad utilized size and experience to compile a fine 5-2 record. Led by Co-Captains Larry Kenney and Tom Redden, this year's team which combined a competent offense with a cagey defense was the equal of any opponent.

The veteran defense permitted nearly half the yards rushing of Kingswood and allowed only a 42% pass completion average.

The offense, spearheaded by the powerful running of Tom Redden, Bob Kaplan, and Bob Dinucci and by the arm of quarterback Dave Francis outscored opponents by 50% (150-102)

SOCCER

A 7-2-4 won-lost record. A fifth place finish in the 39 team league. An eight game undefeated streak through the season's final game that included wins over such powers as Berkshire, Choate and Wilbraham and a tie with perennial contender Williston. These were but some of the accomplishments of the 1972 Kingswood Varsity soccer Team. These feats are even more significant when it is known that the last really competitive Kingswood team played in 1965 and the 1971 Wyverns won only four games all year.

The strength of this team was its young, aggressive defense which was spearheaded by All-League goalkeeper and returning captain Skip Comstock. In front of Skip were fullbacks Chip Wood, and Randy Hayes — all underclassmen. Incidentally, sophomore Dave Emery established himself as a standout fullback. Able filling backup roles at these positions were seniors Jeff Dunne, Mark Elliott, and Andy Krevolin. The all important halfback positions were manned by Doug Farrell, Mark Willis, Mike Carey, John Stevenson, John Green, Dane Swanson and Jim Dralle. Here as at the fullback positions, enough underclassmen saw action this year to gain the experience necessary to become valuable operatives next season. The forward line of captain Cary Smith, Sueng Han, South African John Goldblatt, Dave Garratt, and Bruce Penney, though not explosive, provided the clutch goals that make for a great season. If the line can duplicate its effort next year, Wyvern soccer could return to the top of the league for the first time in a decade.

CROSS COUNTRY

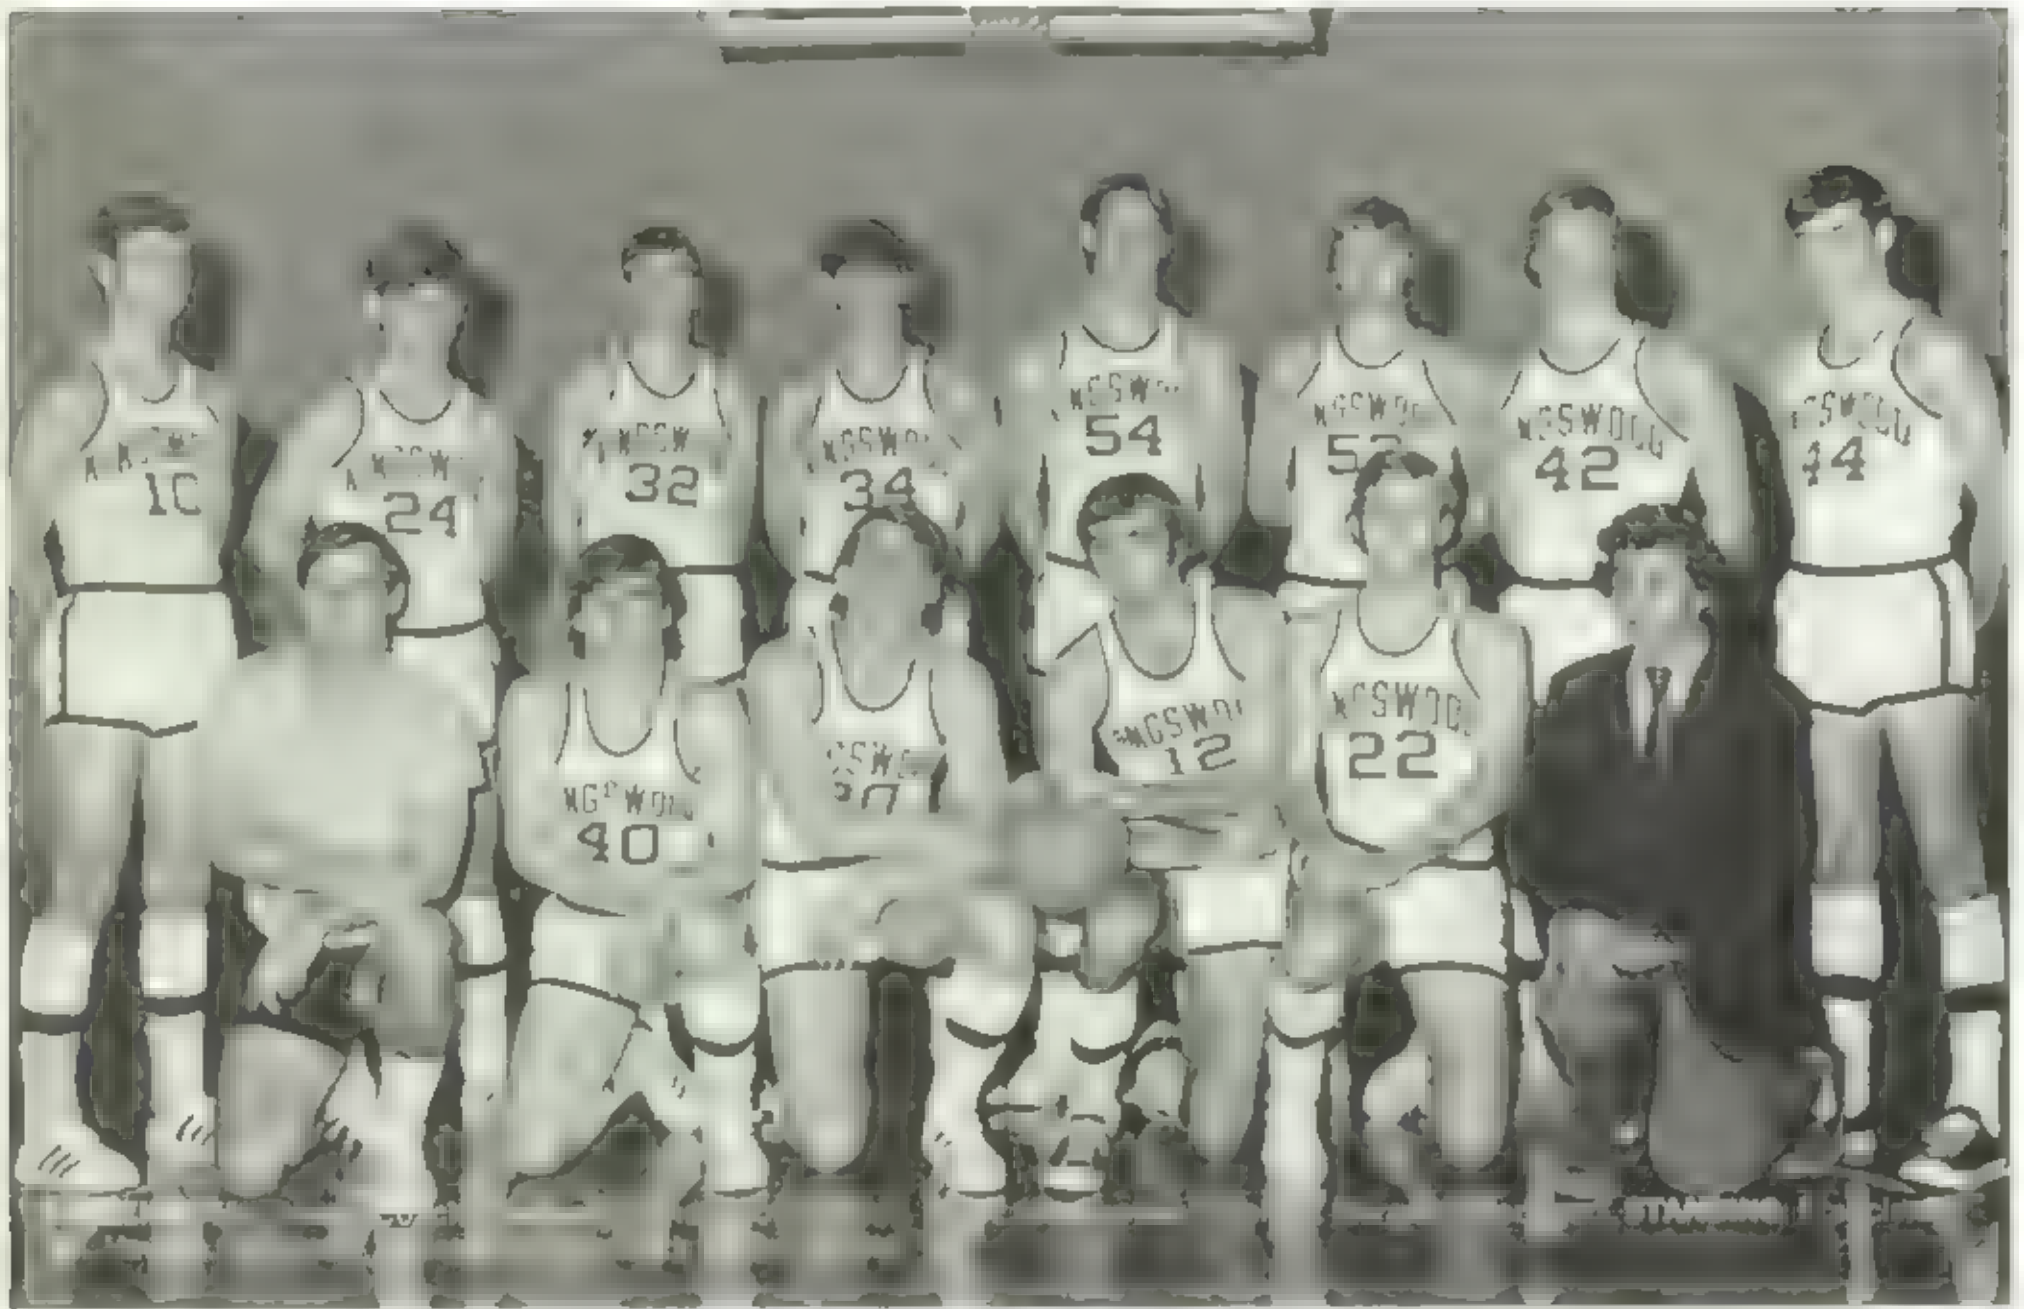

The Cross Country team posted its first winning season this year in its three year history. The team, coached by Mark Doyle, scored five wins against four losses in its most successful season. After being set-back in its first match by Loomis, the team convincingly defeated Suffield, Pomfret, and Williston. Then Hopkins ran to an upset victory over the Kingswood runners, and in the next match the team was again beaten, this time by Choate. In the final three matches, the harriers crushed Avon, lost to Kent, and decisively defeated Westminster to complete a banner year

Outstanding runners this year were sophomores Brian Bailey-Gates, senior Rich Froh, and junior Chris Dawson. Unfortunately the team captain Dean Skevas, was hampered by a severe leg injury and was not able to perform completely up to the expectations of the team. Next year's co-captains Skevas and Dawson are looking forward to an even more rewarding season

WRESTLING

KNEELING: Shyer, Haskel, Dana, Petersen, C. Captain, Kaplan (Co-Captain), Reynolds, Shkxetoff, Wyvern. STANDING: Eliason, Stack, Silverman, Skevas, Peaslee, Fisher, Crosskey, B. Crosskey, Falce.

At the start of the season the Wyvern wrestling team appeared to be the team to beat and with good reason. Returning from the previous year were such standouts as Bob Kaplan who placed first in the 160 weight class, Allen Petersen who garnered a second place finish in the 127 pound class and two third place finishers, Mike Silverman and Ben Dana in the 115 and Unlimited classes respectively. Other bright prospects back from the previous year were John Marvin, Tom Stack, Scott Haskel, Chuck Shkxetoff, and David Reynolds who had been a number one seed two years ago. The team started out by annihilating their first four foes by the aggregate point total of 198 to 31. The team then ran into a powerful Canterbury team and dropped a heart breaking 28-16 decision. The Wyverns then rebounded strongly with impressive wins over weak Hotchkiss and Salisbury teams and strong Choate and A.S.D. teams. In their matches against Taft and Suffield the Wyverns lost both by a total of three points.

The Kingswood machine then moved into high gear and tuned up for the C.W.A. tournament that was to be held on home grounds this year. After the two preliminary rounds Kingswood was second in point total to Taft but had the most men returning to the semifinal round. Here was where the Wyverns showed just how powerful they really were. From this round 8 Kingswood wrestlers moved into the finals with the biggest upsets in the 121 and 160 pound classes where Mike Silverman and Bob Eliason soundly defeated their favored opponents. By the end of the third round the tournament had for all intents and purposes been won with Kingswood holding a twenty point spread over the nearest opponent. In the 110 point class Marvin earned a second place finish, losing in over-time by a referee's decision, at 115 Stack placed fourth, at 121 Silverman placed second, at 127 co captain Petersen placed first, at 138 Haskel placed second, at 145 Shkxetoff won a hard earned third place finish, at 152 the state championship barely eluded Reynolds as he placed second, at 160 Eliason placed second, at 167 co captain Kaplan won his 33 match in a row and copped his second state title, and at the Unlimited class Dana, who had not been scored upon during the regular season, placed first.

SKIING

Senior Chris Bray executes a turn in a Giant Slalom event

This year as in numerous past years, the ski team was able, through the generosity of Mr and Mrs. Winslow Ayer, to again train the week before Christmas at the Killington Ski Area. This pre-season racing proved invaluable this year as it was the only training available because of the mild snowless winter here in West Hartford.

The season began with a tough race against top league contenders: Choate, Suffield and Wiliston. In a close race on an icy course the Wyverns were beaten only by a fast and stubborn Suffield team. The year's second race was against Hotchkiss and Trinity-Pawling. In the first run, lead by Captain Winslow Ayer, the Wyverns captured all the top places except first. However in the second run Hotchkiss came back and in the final score edged the Wyverns into a disappointing second place. A week later the Kingswood team was again facing Choate, Suffield and Wiliston. Suffield still undefeated and first in the league. This time the Wyverns put together consistently fast runs and Sophomores Fred Barnes and Dave McKenna lead Kingswood by finishing a fine second and fourth respectively, handing Suffield their first defeat.

Traveling to Butternut Basin in Massachusetts the Wyverns lost to Northern Division ski champions Salisbury and Kent. On a treacherous course the Kingswood skiers lack consistent performance enabling the two opponents to win with relative ease. In their final league race the team faced 1972 league champion Berkshire and a tough Kent squad. With poor visibility during a raging snowstorm the Wyvern skiers were paced by Winslow Ayer, Fred Barnes, Chris Bray and Dave McKenna.

The team finished the year with fifth place in their league which is quite admirable considering the adverse conditions. Coach John Curtis did a good job considering the inexperience of many of his skiers and the dirt of snow this year. This year's team has been a rather spirited one and will long be grateful for Coach Curtis' patience, instruction and good nature.

This past winter Kingswood returned to interscholastic hockey for the first time in many years. Two fully equipped teams competed in a total schedule of over forty games.

Considering the almost total inexperience of Kingswood skaters, the season showed great progress. The Kingswood "A" team, for example, began with only six boys of any experience at defense: Park Owens, Lew Warner, and Dave Antos; at offense: Tim Saul, Dave Coburn, and Cary Smith. Yet the "A"s played its first eleven games without a win, and yielded goals at a rate of 9-1. Gradually, however, novice skaters like Dralle, Lewis, Bradley, Butts, and Powers improved.

On January 13, a memorable night for Kingswood hockey, the "A"s defeated the W. liston JVs 3-2. In the first ten games of this their first season, the "A"s toughened behind the excellent goaltending of both Andy Krevo and Peter Hughes. In ten games the "A"s went 4-4-2 with the margin in any game rarely more than a goal. In return matches with teams played earlier in the season, the "A"s improved on a 10-5 loss to Gastonbury with a 2-2 tie, humiliated 10-0 by the Hartford Bantams, the "A"s managed a 5-5 tie in return. Kingswood turned an early 5-1 loss to Loomis into a 6-5 win.

The future of Kingswood hockey lies with the lower school "B" team which improved dramatically in three months. Behind Haines, Bulkley, Warfel, McClean, Warner, and first year goalie Andy Putnam, the "B"s followed early season losses with six wins, ending their season 6-6-1. As deduced from won-lost records, the enthusiasm and spirit on both teams were high even at early six o'clock practices. Boys like Charles Bour and Mark Tierney, Joe Amato, and Max Leventhal can contemplate a new winter sport, an opportunity that was not available only a year ago. Kingswood must build on the considerable labors of these boys and their coaches, Messrs. Googins, Alpass, Lindsay, and Dale to insure the growth of Kingswood hockey.

RIFLERY

Hopes for a successful season were high this year as returning veterans and newcomers alike had already prepared the team for a pretty schedule. These hopes were soon gone however, as the squad posted early losses to Safford, Loomis and Avon Old Farms schools.

The dependable efforts of veteran Martin G. Lette and Dan LaPres, with the aid of shooters Peter M. Jette, Michael Owen and Henry Zar, quickly brought the team back to its feet with a win against Hale and a win against Safford. Unfortunately the group could not sustain this drive and even with excellent performances from Rick Friel and Gerry Barreau, the next match against Longmeadow proved a disappointing loss. The Wyverns, led by the sun target of five points. With two weeks to work between matches, the squad consistently put in fine practice sessions, which resulted in a vastly improved record through the remainder of the season.

Coming off a successful eight day Southern trip, this year's net squad is hoping to wind up the season undefeated at home. The season started off in fine style with a 9-0 win over St. John's College of Washington D.C. Following a showing of "My Deep Hunger" the squad defeated the 1972 Virginia state champs, Yorktown High 6-3. Silo, Big, Beakster, J., Rican, Twinks, Rat and A.P. followed this with pink-bellies, Cocktail Hostesses and two tough losses to Walt Whitman and Georgetown Prep. The Wyverns soon bounced back to soundly defeat the Woodbury Forest School 6-3 finishing the pre-season trip with a 3-2 record.

Returning home, the netmen, defeated Longmeadow 6-3, then pulled out a thrilling match with Hotchkiss 5-4. Here, Brad Van Winkle, Ken Walker and Bob McAvoy posted impressive singles victories while the tandems of Walker-McAvoy and Garratt-Van Winkle were victorious in doubles competition. Two days later, they murdered 1972 CCIL champion Conard High 8-0, then followed this with an 8-1 win over Salisbury and a 6-3 victory over Taft. Already 5-0 at home this year's tennis team has virtually sewn up the Connatic League title and established themselves as one of the strongest teams in Kingswood history.

The 1973 Baseball team began its season on a very high note with a spring trip to St. Petersburg, Florida. This first in Kingswood Baseball history excursion provided a great opportunity for all 19 participating players to show what they could do both on and off the field. For example, everyone showed a surprising aptitude at the ancient art of hitchhiking — an activity absolutely necessary if one was to enjoy the two nightspots in town, the pinball arenas. The team also showed a penchant for the double play, Lorden-Farrell-Keefe with everything on Chicken's bed. And no one will ever forget the cries of "cockroach" by Elmwood Joe as he was stricken by a wounded Porky. Of course, baseball was played, a lot of it. The one-lost record of games played in St. Pete is irrelevant as most games only lasted 5 innings. However, most returnees from last year's squad agree that the Southern experience was the major factor in the opening game win over taft in Watertown.

A young team, the loss of five starters, and three new strong opponents should pave the way for a rugged season for the Kingswood varsity golf team. With nine golfers fighting for seven spots on the team, the lineup could possibly change for every match.

Expected to lead the team this year is a newcomer, sophomore Ross Little. Little and his three handicap will be followed by either last year's number two man Wilbur Wood, or another sophomore, Keith Waldman. Battling for the number four, five, and six spots are senior Captain Lee Nordstrom, Peter Knowlton, and Chip Wood. The number seven spot will probably rotate around senior Jeff Martin, and juniors Hondo Havens and Ira Kaitz.

After Little, the handicaps of the rest of the team are bunched around eight, but with most of these golfers playing the demanding area courses, the handicaps can be deceiving. Wilbur Wood should certainly improve on his last year's 4-7-1 record and Lee Nordstrom can be expected to hold his own in the number four spot. Havens, Martin, Chip Wood, Pete Knowlton and Waldman have all had junior varsity experience and should prove invaluable to the team this year.

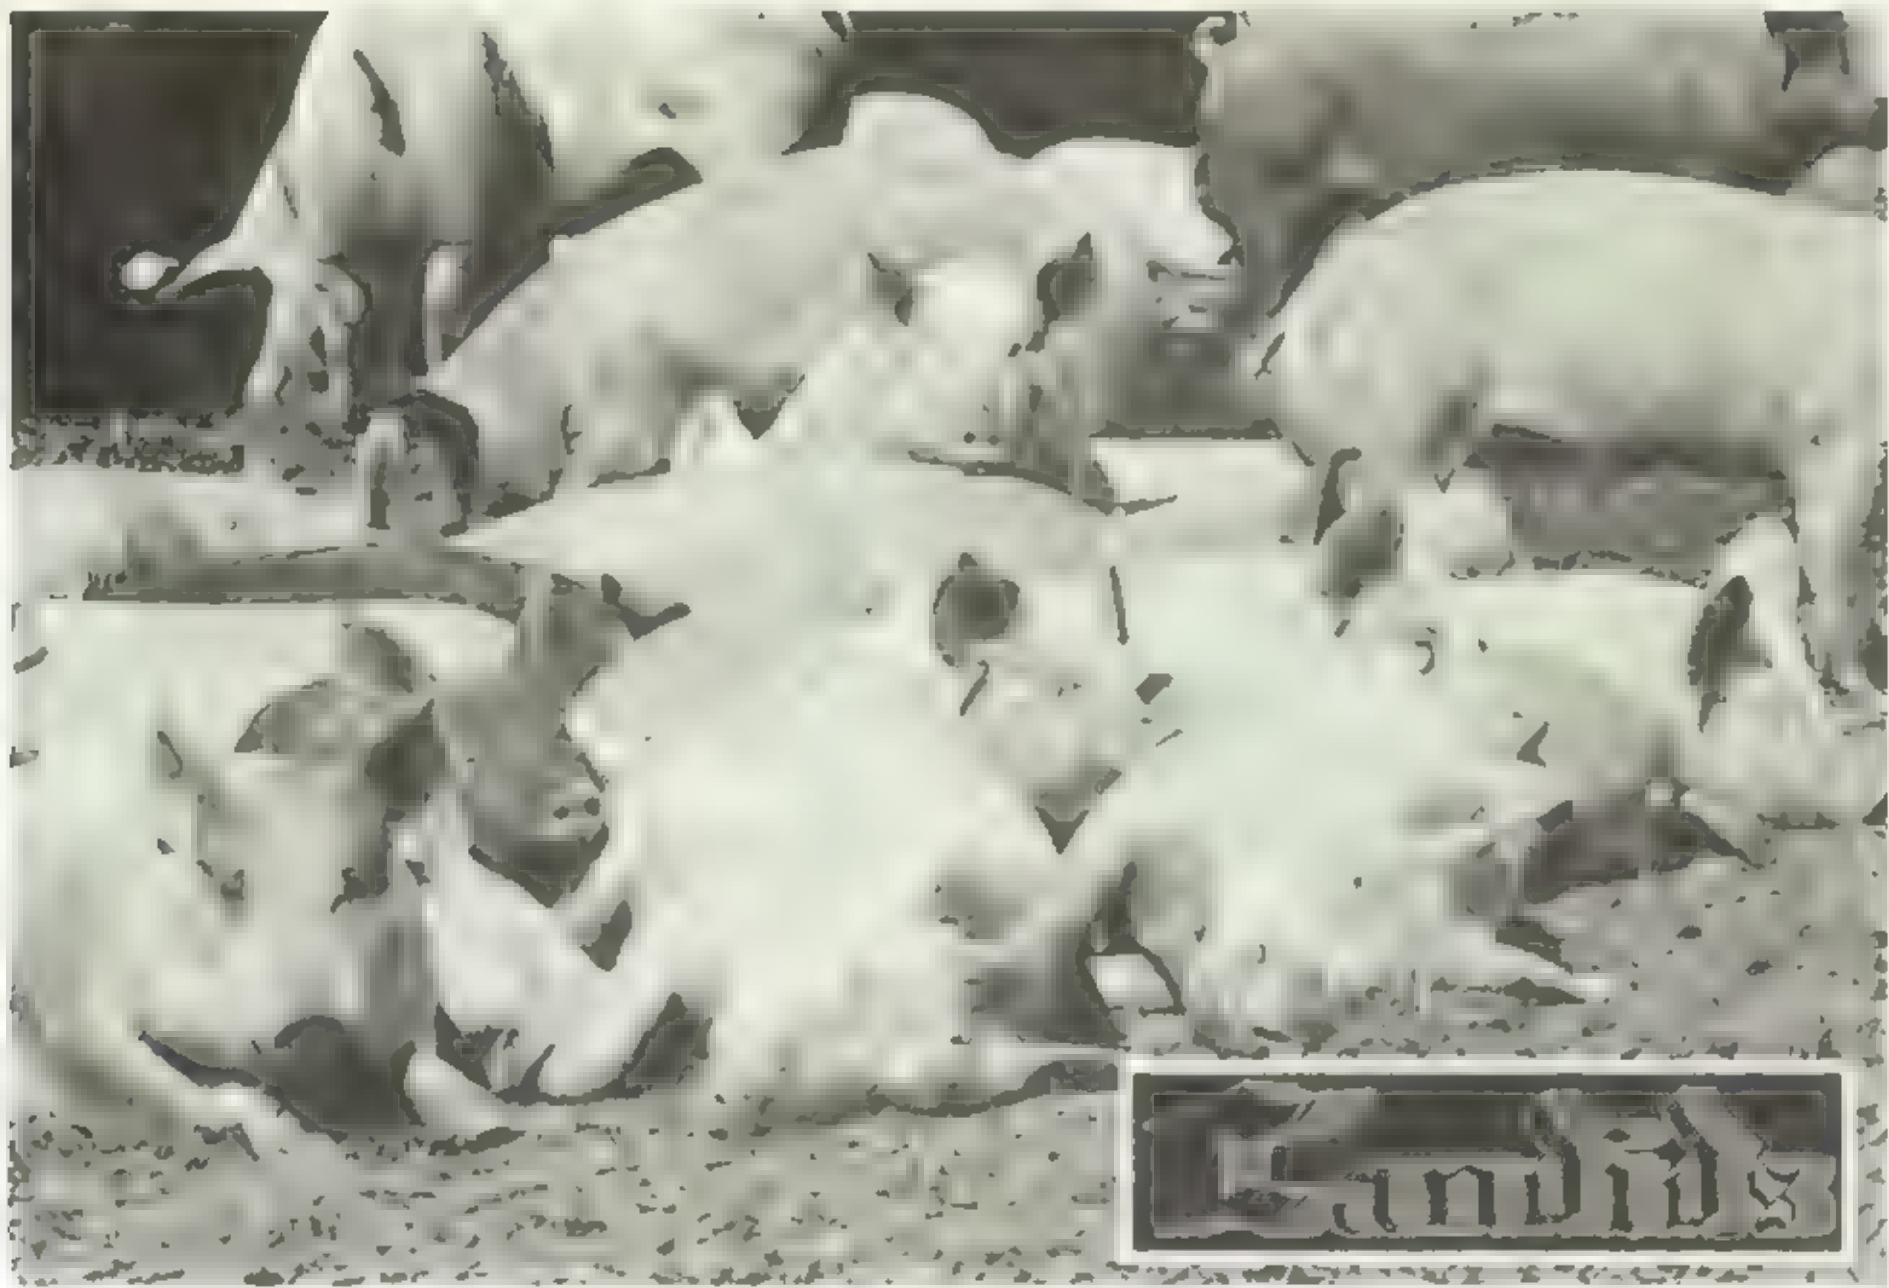

In order to match last year's record, this team will have to come through in the lower positions. It could be called a rebuilding year, with the youth on the team, but there is a lot of experience in the top spots and the team should shape up with every match.

After a four-day trip to Maryland during the spring vacation an improved Varsity Lacrosse team is looking for another banner year. Returning home, they opened their season with an impressive 10-1 win over the Kent School. Leading the Wyverns in this rout was senior Dave Reynolds, who netted a sensational six goals. Also adding tallies were captain Allen Petersen, who hit twice and seniors Scott Haskell and Paul Kraszewski. Sophomore Jeff Hickey paced the Wyverns' second win in as many outings with a four goal effort against Williston. Following this 10-5 win, the laxmen went on to defeat cross-town rival Hall High 13-6. Overall, this year's squad is experienced with returning lettermen Allen Petersen, Scott Haskell, Dave Reynolds, Greg Hickey, Larry Kenney, Chuck Sheketoff and Paul Kraszewski and young with sophomores Jeff Hickey, and Joe Nastri so that Coach Lindsay is optimistic towards both success this year and for years to come
